WHY NOT PROTECT THE COURT HOUSES AND POLICE HEADQUARTERS?

Streets, Broadway and Eighth Avenue.

"It was pretty close to the hotel," he said.

He began to wander about, looking for a policeman. In front of the Rialto Theatre he collapsed, and several men helped him into the theatre. An ambulance was called and he was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where it was found that his jaw was broken and that there is a possible fracture of the skull. His condition is described as serious.

Detectives from the West 44th Street Station are waiting at the hospital for the victim's mind to clear up, hoping he will be able to give them a clue.

Mrs. Cecil Sartoris, wife of a grandson of Gen. U. S. Grant, whose apartment at No. 47 Washington Square South was robbed of $4,000 worth of valuables Saturday night, declared to-day that the thieves apparently were familiar with the place and had been waiting for a favorable opportunity. They took only what could be easily converted into cash.

When Mrs. Sartoris and her son Herbert returned yesterday morning from a visit in Riverside Drive they found the outer door of the apartment locked, but the inner door "jimmied." The apartment was in disorder. Eight thousand francs in 1,000-franc notes had been taken from a hiding place. This was part of the French Restoration Fund, of which Mrs. Sartoris is a Vice President. The thieves carried away funds worth $4,500 and a quantity of jewels and family heirlooms.

GARAGE OWNER HELD UP; ROBBED OF $160.

The garage of Fred Farrell, at No. 215 West 69th Street, was held up yesterday by two men who first telephoned to Farrell and told him they would be around for a car. Farrell, who was alone in the garage, tried to bar the men out, but they shoved past him. The robbers carried neither revolvers nor blackjacks, but had armed themselves with long knives to terrorize their victim. One jabbed his knife through Farrell's coat and pressed the point into the flesh over the ribs, causing a slight wound. The second man searched him and got a wallet containing $160. The robbers then cut the telephone wires and departed with a warning to Farrell not to "stick his head out the door for ten minutes."

This robbery took place within one block of the West 68th Street Police Station, where ten detectives with an automobile at their disposal were supposed to be on the alert to guard the neighborhood from bandits. After the alarm was given the detectives sped all around the neighborhood in their automobile, but found no trace of the robbers.

The cigar store of Alexander Salerno at No. 491 West Street, half a block distant from the Seamen's Mission, it was learned to-day, was burglarized last night and despoiled of $10 in cash, a bottle of wine and jewelry valued at $200. Salerno had secured his door with a padlock which he was assured was the largest in the city. The thieves sawed the staple in two.

BOY POKER PLAYER HELD FOR SLAYING

Fourteen-Year-Old Prisoner Accused of Shooting Companion Who Called Him Cheat.

William Termino, fourteen years old, No. 1112 Wiloughby Avenue, Brooklyn, was held in the Children's Court to-day for examination next Monday in connection with the death of Salvatore Campisi, fifteen, No. 119 Stanhope Street, Brooklyn, who was shot Saturday night.

The police say the two boys and four others were playing poker Saturday night in a house in Central Avenue, Brooklyn, when Campisi accused Termino of cheating.

Termino, the police say, pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired, the bullet penetrating the chest of Campisi, who died in St. Catherine's Hospital.

Detective James Drum arrested Termino at his home this morning. Drum said Termino had lately been released from the Catholic reformatory.

Bootleggers as Anarchists.

Violators of the Eighteenth Amendment were classed with Anarchists by John S. Kramer, Federal Commissioner of Prohibition, in an address before the New York Lutheran Ministers' Association at noon to-day at the West 22d Street Y. M. C. A. "There never was a question that has been so carefully considered as the prohibition of the liquor traffic," said Mr. Kramer. "Everybody knew it was coming. There never was an issue that was passed by such an overwhelming majority."

RAILROADS SEEK ANOTHER BOOST IN FREIGHT RATES

New England Lines Claim to Be Hard Hit by Present Policy.

PROFITS FALLING OFF.

Unable to Earn Interest to Which Congress Says They Are Entitled.

By David Lawrence.

(Special Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (Copyright, 1920).—Questions raised by practically all the New England railroads before the Interstate Commerce Commission indicate that the entire financial policy of Congress toward the railroads of the whole country as declared in the Transportation Act may break down unless relief of some kind is immediately forthcoming.

Congress plainly said that the railroads of the country should earn at least 5-1-2 to 6 per cent. on the value of their property. The New England railroads have complained before the Interstate Commerce Commission that they are earning nothing as a whole and are insisting that all the other railroads east of the Mississippi should be compelled to give up at least $2,000,000 in revenue on freight rates to enable the New England lines to meet their deficit.

But the other railroads contend that they too are falling by many millions to earn the 6 per cent. which Congress intended and they claim there isn't going to be any surplus revenue to divide with the New England group of roads. In fact, the Eastern railroads, which include some of the most important lines of the country, have been so hard hit by the sharp decline in freight shipments since October that they contend they are earning less than 5 per cent. on the value of their property. A serious question has been raised as to whether the Interstate Commerce Commission will not find it necessary to award another general increase in freight rates in order to carry out the command of Congress that the railroads should get at least 5-1-2 per cent. on their investment.

The Eastern railroads have further contended that the New England lines ought to increase their local freight and passenger rates within New England in order to meet the emergency, but New England shippers declare they couldn't stand any such raise.

GREEK CONSULATE OFFICE ROBBED

Thieves May Have Been Seeking Diplomatic Despatches—$55 Stolen From Desk.

Thieves broke into the Greek Consulate at No. 11 St. Luke's Place last Friday night, it became known to-day. The discovery was made by Consul Theodore Pappanopoulos when he opened his office on Saturday morning. He found that the drawer to a desk had been pried open and $55 taken. The thieves had gained entry by forcing a window.

Although the theft was reported to the police of the Charles Street Station about 9 A. M., it was afternoon before a detective appeared. There is a suspicion that the thieves may not have been in search of cash, but owing to the change of Government in Greece may have been seeking diplomatic despatches.

Eleven Deer Killed in Bergen County.

Eleven deer have been killed in Bergen County since the season opened. Game Warden Small said to-day. Twenty were killed in the open season last year. Small expects last year's record will be broken by the time the season closes next Saturday. He says deer are plentiful and there are many hunters in the woods. A deer was killed this morning at Ramsey.

Rehearing in Aronstein Case Denied.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—A petition of Henry A. Gilderbelle, trustee in bankruptcy in the case of Julius W. (Nicky) Aronstein, that the Supreme Court suspend his recent order releasing Aronstein on a writ of habeas corpus and rehear the case was denied by the court.

ENRIGHT CALLS FOR MORE POLICEMEN TO CHECK CRIME WAVE

must make ready to handle the situation in this city."

After reading the Enright letter Mayor Hylan requested the Board of Estimate to authorize the increase of 1,200 patrolmen. The Mayor's resolution was temporarily denied. Aldermanic President La Guardia, ordinarily an ally of the Mayor, voted against it. Twelve votes were required, but there were only ten for it. The Mayor moved that the Board meet again to-morrow when, on its second submission, the resolution will require only nine votes.

Borough President Curran voted for the increase and stated that if the spending of a million dollars as estimated for additional police protection would reduce property loss he considered it a good investment.

Mayor Hylan in answering President Curran's charge of failure to supply him with a list of police details said: "I suppose the reason I did not give you the list is that I know you sometimes play politics and might desire to give the list to the newspapers which are unfriendly to the Administration." He said he would have the list to-morrow, also the list operated by the previous Commissioner, Arthur Woods.

TO TAKE UP OFFER OF 35,000 SERVICE MEN.

A plan whereby the services of 35,000 former service men living in Greater New York will be offered to Mayor Hylan in checking the activities of desperadoes and other criminals in this city is to be discussed to-day when M. W. Galbraith, Jr., of Cincinnati, National Commander of the American Legion, meets the five County Chairmen of Legion organizations in this city at State Headquarters in the Hall of Records.

The Executive Committee of the Merchants' Association of New York met in executive session this afternoon to discuss and devise means for co-operating with the police in suppressing crime. The Chamber of Commerce of Brooklyn will meet to-night for the same purpose.

The New York Chapter of the Military Order of the World War will meet to-night for similar purpose in the 71st Regiment Armory. Members of the order will be urged to apply for pistol permits to act in a concerted warfare against criminals.

Following the determination of the Judges and Magistrates to fix practically prohibitive bail as a check to crime, Judge Haskell of Brooklyn to-day fixed $100,000 as the bond for Vincent Parisandolo, twenty-one, arrested Saturday afternoon at the Brooklyn end of the Brooklyn Bridge for stealing $4,700 and $10,000 worth of jewelry from two employees of J. B. Bowden, District Attorney Lewis said to-day that he would ask for quicker trials and longer sentences in the Brooklyn courts, adding that the system of suspending sentences was "all wrong" and that there was "too much sickly sentiment for convicts." Parisandolo will be brought to trial on Wednesday.

When Harry Keller, Anthony De Leo and Barry Gordon were arraigned to-day in the West Side Court, having been caught riding open a safe in a barber shop at No. 1259 Broadway a week ago, Magistrate Levine, instead of reducing, as he was requested, the $15,000 bail for each, which the Supreme Court had fixed, increased it to $25,000.

"Gangsters, gunmen, robbers and other criminals are not entitled to consideration," he said, "and they'll not get it in my court."

Similarly Judge McIntyre and Rosalsky of General Sessions to-day increased in every case the bail bonds of the prisoners brought before them for pleading to indictment.

43 PRISONERS IN LINE-UP AT HEADQUARTERS

The new activities of the police in gathering in those charged with crime or suspected of it resulted to-day in producing forty-three prisoners for line-up and inspection at Police Headquarters. All of these were charged with felony. Nine of them had been taken in by detectives on the staff of Acting Inspector Coughlin, and the remaining thirty-four by members of the uniformed force. Ten of the arrests were made in Brooklyn.

decided that a second arrest demanded the fixing of prohibitive bail in order that the prisoner might be kept under lock and key so that the police might be relieved of the necessity of watching an alleged criminal and devote the time to catching other evil doers.

The prisoner in question was George Graboff, twenty-two, of No. 143 Avenue H. He and Harry Newman, twenty-two, of 41th Street, Long Island, were arrested early Sunday morning at Sixth Avenue and 30th Street in a stolen motor car which had fresh blood on the rear seat. The explanation the prisoners gave was that they had thrown a man out of the car and afterward picked him up, and that the wound he got in falling stained the cushions.

Police records show that Graboff was out on $5,000 bail for robbing Mamie Kaffel of No. 116 Chrystie Street, Brooklyn, on May 7 last; also that he was arrested in 1917 and in 1918, and in 1919 was sent to the workhouse for six months.

Two policemen whose "strong-arm" methods are well known to criminals applied to to-day's police record with prompt arrests. Patrolman John A. Dougherty of the West 30th Street Station caught John Colonnello, nineteen, No. 341 East 25th Street, four days out of the army, and Joseph Lento, seventeen, No. 208 East 25th Street, robbing Mrs. Katharine Maroney of No. 206 West 30th Street, whom they had knocked down in 30th Street between Broadway and Sixth Avenue. Dougherty sailed in with run-butts and nightstick and soon subdued his prisoners.

Detective William Ray of the Madison Street Station was knocked down with a bottle while trying to arrest three men charged with robbing Tony Kironovitz of No. 35 Cherry Street of $47 at Cherry and Montgomery Streets. From the sidewalk Ray fired at the men and brought down Peter Rabinsky of No. 220 Cherry Street with a bullet in his shoulder. After Ray was patched up and Rabinsky was in Gouverneur Hospital, the prisoner informed on his side and Ray went out and arrested Susma Katcha of No. 300 Cherry Street and Ignatz Kross of No. 304 Cherry Street.

Ten prisoners were arraigned in various Brooklyn Police Courts to-day charged with crimes of violence. The capture of some of them was attributed to the activities of the 100 plain clothes policemen who secured the borough for criminals Saturday night and yesterday and of the detectives who toured Brooklyn in eight automobiles.

John Eshon, saloonkeeper of No. 244 Johnson Avenue, Williamsburg, was arraigned in the Bridge Plaza Court, charged with felonious assault and Sullivan Law violation. It was alleged Eshon fired four shots when detectives entered his saloon. The prisoner said he took them for stick-up men.

Harry Glenn of No. 18 Fort Green Place was arraigned in Adams Street Court, charged by William Forbes, a newspaper man of No. 19 South Elliott Place, with attempted robbery in a cafe at No. 62 DeKalb Avenue.

Meyer Pleska was arraigned in the Bridge Plaza Court, charged with representing himself as a Federal agent and holding up Tony Bandoik in his store at No. 47 Scholes Street. Frank Johnson of No. 107 Johnson Street was arraigned in Adams Street Court, charged by Anthony De Motte of No. 301 Hudson Avenue, with striking him up Saturday night in the hallway at No. 17 Auburn Place and robbing him of $200.

GUARDS NOW POSTED OUTSIDE SING SING.

Owing to the crime wave in this city and the lure it has for criminals Warden Lawes has taken extra precautions, it became known yesterday, to prevent convicts escaping from Sing Sing Prison to ply their old trades. Additional sentries have been posted outside the walls. Even the "trusties" who work in the front of the prison are now kept under close watch. Armed guards have been assigned to patrol the lawn in front of the Warden's residence and prison offices. Another armed keeper is stationed on the roadways, between the outside wall of the cell block and the New York Central tracks. It would be impossible now for any "trusties" to walk away unobserved.

CHILDS FIGHTS INDICTMENT.

Asks Dismissal of Charges Growing Out of Last Mayoralty Election.

Arguments were made before Supreme Court Justice Weeks to-day on the motion to dismiss indictments found against William Hamlin Childs, former Gov. William Sulzer and State Senator Josiah F. Nease, for alleged violation of the election laws in connection with the Mayoralty campaign of the late John Purroy Mitchel.

The indicted men were represented at the hearing by Charles E. Rushmore, John E. Starobin, Isador Kresel and George Z. Medalla.

Dinner for Gov.-Elect Miller.

SYRACUSE, Dec. 20.—Former Gov. Charles E. Hughes of New York and others high in Republican Party circles will attend the dinner in honor of Gov.-elect Nathan L. Miller given by the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night. Mr. Hughes will deliver the principal address. Judge Frank H. Hiscock of the Court of Appeals will act as toastmaster.

MRS. BROOKS TELLS GRAND JURY STORY OF HORTON SLAYING

car. Then the woman testified, she felt a sharp pain in her arm and became dazed.

Mrs. Brooks testified that she did not remember anything from the time she was hit until she came to her senses in her room at No. 52 Hamilton Place. She said she did not know that any one had been killed. She did not know anything about the body of Joseph Laroach being taken from the automobile.

When she was asked concerning a revolver found in a water tank in the Hamilton Place house she said she recognized it as one she owned. She told the jurors that the last time she had seen it the gun was in a chest-drawer. She testified that Cavanaugh had seen the revolver there also and may have taken it.

Joah H. Banton, a former Assistant District Attorney, who appeared at the Criminal Court Building as Mrs. Brooks's counsel, said she had been granted immunity on her promise to appear as a State's witness.

Before going before the jury, Mrs. Brooks met her husband in the Home-tem Bureau. Mr. Brooks took her in his arms and she exclaimed, "I didn't do any harm."

After testifying before the jury and before being taken back to the Harlem Prison, Mrs. Brooks had another meeting with her husband and took a number of egret feathers from her hat and gave them into his care. Mrs. Brooks will be brought down from the prison for another session with the Grand Jury to-morrow.

Mr. Brooks, who is about forty-five years old, has all the appearance of a Westerner. He wore a big slouch hat and upon his right foot a slipper. He is suffering from gangrene of the foot.

"I have absolute faith in my wife's innocence," declared Mrs. Brooks. "I am not a millionaire, but I will sell my shirt if necessary to clear my wife of this charge."

"My wife is not a drinking woman. I never knew her to touch liquor."

Mr. Brooks explained that he arrived in New York from Chicago on Saturday morning. He came to consult with Attorney Rosenblum on business affairs. Upon his arrival he called up the house at No. 52 Hamilton Place, to which Mrs. Brooks had moved from No. 510 West 146th Street. He says she had informed him by wire of her change of residence.

He says that when he asked for Mrs. Brooks he was referred to the newspapers and after purchasing one learned of his wife's predicament.

Mr. Brooks said that his wife is thirty-five years old and that she was born in Russia. He says they have been married for twelve years and that he is her second husband. Her maiden name was Lucille Emma Weidenman.

Mr. Brooks was asked whether he knew the men who were arrested with Mrs. Brooks on the homicide charge. He replied that he knew both Cavanaugh and Nicholas Laroach. He said that Cavanaugh as the superintendent of the apartment in West 146th Street had been kind to his wife. He said Nicholas Laroach was formerly employed as an errand boy for a drug store near Broadway and 118th Street where he and Mrs. Brooks had at one time resided.

Brooks said that he last saw his wife on Nov. 16.

Nicholas Laroach, who is also held on a homicide charge, was left at the Harlem Prison.
